Effect of the Must.

TERRIBLE SAN DIEGO DISASTER

Hunting for Lost Treasure—Earthquakes at Eureka, Rhonerville and San Buenaventura.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—The Merchant will say that a sharp advance in prices of wine is anticipated, owing to the small stock of old wine on hand; to the facilities offered by wine-makers for storage, and obtaining advances thereon; to the superior quality of last year's vintage, for which there has been engulfers from the East and Europe; to the effects of the late frosts, which will reduce the coming vintage in some of the large producing vine sections by one-third; and to the arrangements recently completed for condensing must, which will relieve the market from any possibility of surplus for many years to come. All these facts lead the Merchant to believe prices will advance from 15 cents a gallon to as high as 25 and 30 cents a gallon. Sales have already been made at 18 cents per gallon.

FROST IN SUBURBIA.
SUNSHINE, May 12.—Ice formed half an inch thick here last night. The entire fruit crop is killed.

HUNTING LOST TREASURE.
The Find Expected to be Greater than L. Mearns's.

DENVER, Col., May 12.—John Shirley, a miserly saloon keeper who lived in a little town forty miles west of here, called Buffalo Creek, died a few days ago, and it is reported he left a large amount of money secreted somewhere about his house, or buried in the yard. Search was instituted for the money and after a few days a will was found leaving everything to a Dr. Morey, who lived a mile from Shirley's cabin, but which failed to state where the property could be found. An old safe standing in a small bedroom where the miser died, was broken open and $635 found. Those who knew Shirley best say they have seen him have at one time $3000, and all in $20 gold pieces; that he would often discount drafts for large amounts, and from the way the old man talked about his money they firmly believe there is buried somewhere on the premises from $25,000 to $50,000 in gold. The town and surrounding country are greatly excited over the affair, and those interested in finding the money have stationed armed guards around the grounds and are searching the house and digging the ground after the supposed treasure.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE.

Three Towns Shaken.

Reports of the Effect of the Recent Frost.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—State viticultural officer Wheeler to-day received reports from various districts relative to the damage to vines and the grape crop by the recent frosts. The reports from Stockton, Santa Clara, San Joaquin and Livermore valleys, indicate little or no damage, except from Sonoma, Santa Rosa, Glen Ellen, Napa, St. Helena and Calistoga show that considerable damage has been done, and it is feared the grape crop of these districts will be greatly lessened this year.

THE CUNNING CHINESE.

He Tried to Outwit the Authorities.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—On April 28th eight Chinamen, after examinations in the U. S. District Court, were declared to have no right to land in this State, and were ordered by the Court to be returned to China on the same steamer, City of Peking, on which they arrived in this port April 4th. Pending the next arrival of the Peking the eight Chinamen were placed for safe keeping, by the United States Marshal, in the county jail. Two Chinamen called on them Monday, and while conversing with them attempted to pass a bundle of clothing to them. The action was detected and the clothing confiscated. The bundle was found to contain carefully prepared diagrams of Chinatown, with a complete list of questions asked in the United States Courts of Chinamen claiming previous residence, and to each question a minute and elaborate reply was appended. The evident intention of the Chinese was to have appealed their cases to the Circuit Court after they had mastered the answers to the questions and obtained a knowledge of the topography of the city, and so gain the right to remain here.

GARFIELD MONUMENT.

Great Dedication Ceremonies
at Washington.

ADDRESS OF THE PRESIDENT.

Wisdom, Beauty and Bravery in Attendance—A Speech by Sheridan.

Associated Press Dispatches to the HERALD.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The unveiling of the statue of Garfield took place to-day, the occasion being a memorable one. The statue, which is of bronze, is the design of the sculptor, J. Q. A. Ward, who also designed the equestrian statue of General Thomas, in this city. It is ten feet six inches in height, and represents Garfield facing the west in the act of delivering an address, with his right hand resting on a column and his manuscript held in his left. Recumbent idea figures are at each corner of the triangular pedestal, the recumbent student, warrior and statesman, typifying the three epochs of Garfield's career. Bronze tablets above the figures bear a globe, trumpet and sword, and a laurel wreath inscribing the scales of Justice. Inscriptions upon the shaft are placed upon three sides, as follows: South—West face, "James A. Garfield, 1831-1881." On the southeast face, "Major General, U. S. A., Member of Congress, Senator, and President of the United States of America." On the north face, "Erected by His Comrades of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, May 12, 1887." The erection of the statue was authorized at a meeting of the Society at Chattanooga, in 1881, and nine members were appointed to select a design and superintend its construction. The committee reported to the sculptor, Mr. Ward, $56,748 in full settlement of his claim.

PERSONNEL OF THOSE PRESENT.

On the grand stand, near the statue, seats had been arranged for 1500 persons and a number of those had occupied it at least an hour before the procession arrived. A pair of comfortable armchairs in the center of the stand were reserved for President and Mrs. Cleveland. Places were reserved for the sculptor and other favored guests. The large circle surrounding the monument was kept clear by the police. Secretary Bayard, the Attorney-General, President Cleveland, the members of the Supreme Court, the district judiciary of the Court of Claims and the District Commissioners, and representatives, the Diplomatic corps and the two sons of General Garfield occupied conspicuous seats near the President's chair. At 1 o'clock General Sherman, Sheridan and Rosecrans, and Governor Curtis arrived. Just after this, the head of the procession made its appearance. They were soon followed by President Cleveland, escorted by General Anderson and Secretary and Mrs. Fairchild, Colonel and Mrs. LaMont, Postmaster-General Vilas and Secretary Lamar. Mrs. Cleveland came next, accompanied by Mrs. Folsom, Mrs. Bayard and Mrs. Welch. It was just after one o'clock and she took her seat beside the President's chair. Then followed the First Division, composed as follows: Band, battalion of the Third Artillery acting as infantry and as the Garfield Guard of Honor, the Society of the Army of the Cumberland, the Marine Band, a battalion of Marines and a detachment of 200 sailors from the United States ship Galena. The Second Division being the District Militia was composed of the Washington Infantry Corps, two Union veteran corps, the National Rifles, the Washington Continental Emmet Guard, Capital City Guard, Butler Zouaves, Washington Cadet Corps, High School Cadets and Concord Cadets, Grand Army of the Republic and Civil War veterans. The whole division was under the command of Major Goodloe, of the United States Marine Corps.

At 11 o'clock Marshal Wilson, taking his place on the stand, said:

"Attention! Ladies and Gentlemen—The Society of the Army of the Cumberland, with these distinguished guests, are assembled here to-day for the purpose of unveiling the statue of that statesman and soldier, James A. Garfield. The exercises will be opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Cleveland, of the Cumberland, and will close with the prayer of the band surrounding the monument struck up, 'Hail to the Chief,' and, amid the clapping of hands the American flag enveloping the statue was dropped, and the grand old flag of the Union was raised to the top of the pole. A battery of artillery fired the national salute. General Sheridan then introduced the orator of the day, General J. Warren Keifer, who on the part of the American people, delivered an address, transferring the statue to General Sheridan.

At its conclusion General Sheridan, in behalf of the society transferred the statue to the President in the following words:

REMARKS OF SHERIDAN.

Mr. President—This statue which has been unveiled in your presence to-day, was erected by the comrades of General Garfield, belonging to the Army of the Cumberland. They recognized his merit as a soldier, and they wished to pay some testimony to that merit and his worth as a man. I have the honor, sir, on behalf of this Society of the Army of the Cumberland, to ask you as a representative of the American people, to accept this statue from their hands, as it was given to me.

ADDRESS BY THE PRESIDENT.

The President who arose as General Sheridan began speaking, then began his address, accepting the statue as a gift to the nation. He said: "Fellow citizens—In the performance of duty assigned me on this occasion, I hereby accept on behalf of the people of the United States this complete and beautiful statue, and the interchange of fraternal greetings between the survivors of the Army of the Cumberland and their former foes upon the battle field. While this Union General and people's President awaited the burial of their common griefs, these magnanimous survivors of the battle found expression of their sorrow in their determination to erect this tribute to American greatness. Thus, to-day in its symmetry and beauty it presents no sign of the animosities long since forgotten. From of government this statue of a distinguished citizen. In him we find loving tenderness in every domestic relation, bravery on the field of battle, and distinction in our halls of legislation, ## and the highest honor and dignity in the chief magistracy of the nation.

During the delivery of his address the President was frequently interrupted by outbursts of applause. He spoke fluently, in a clear voice, which was audible to the most of the vast crowd that filled the circle before the stand. When he had concluded the band played "Hail Columbia," and the Rev. F. D. Power, who was the pastor of General Garfield's church in this city, pronounced a benediction. The troops were then dismissed and the ceremonies came to an end.

PACIFIC MAIL ELECTION.

Content of Stockholders to Consider the Directors.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Henry Hart, who for several years has been a director of the Pacific Mail Company, is out with circulars asking for proxies to be used in the coming election. Hart wants to the present directors out and elect a new board not composed of speculators and brokers. He says all supplies are purchased at San Francisco, yet not an officer of the company has examined the books and accounts of the San Francisco office in ten years. President Houston will probably retire. Edward Louterbach, a lawyer and one of the directors, was asked to run for President. But Louterbach says if Houston retires George J. Gould will be elected. C. H. Kennedy has also issued a circular calling for proxies to be used to secure the election of directors who will manage the affairs of the company in the interests of bona fide stockholders.

Should the Tribune's announcement prove to be false, as in all probability it will, efforts will be made to bring action against that journal for the announcement of a lie detrimental to the interests of those in the section within which that journal circulates.

Such Fate.

CITY OF MEXICO, May 12.—The Diario Oficial, denies the report published here yesterday, to the effect that the officers concerned in the Nogales affair have been shot. ## A TRIP TO HESPERIA.

Deserts in Blossom—The New Water Works.

It was the good fortune of a representative of the HERALD to make a trip to the town of Hesperia in San Bernardino county on Tuesday last in company with the President of the Hesperia Land and Water Company, Hon. R. M. Widney, Dr. P. J. Kline, a prominent citizen of Portsmouth, Ohio, and the proprietors of the new settlement. The trip was made by the new and elegant cars of the California Southern Railway through great grain fields.

"That stretch in airy undulations far and wide, As if the ocean, in his gentle swell, Sailed still, with all his foaming billows, And motionless forever." (McDougal's.) No; they are all unchained again. The clouds sweep over with their shadows, and, be-
The surface rolls and fluctuates to the eye; the train men thought due at 5 p. m., but the train came not. Moments lengthened into hours and anxiety was in the majority when it was found that the party had no lunch basket, no blankets and no water and were twelve miles from any settlement. As the above and the faces began to lengthen the Judge shot a jackrabbit with his trusty revolver and tossed it unskinned into the great blazing bed of coals that had been made for purposes of comfort. Those who have read the Old Testament will remember the mention of the heat of the "coals of Jericho." The heat was not over-stated in that ancient document, for in a few minutes the rabbit was withdrawn, done brown as a blackberry and dense tall, feet and ears in the fiery ordeal. All were invited to the sumptuous feast, which was most complete. Of course there was no salt, no pepper, no bread or butter, potatoes, tea or coffee, or water, but these little adjuncts of a feast are of little moment when a tender hare is roasted in a bed of fervent juniper coals.

The Judge and the newspaper man did the mastication in good frontier shape, but one of the tenderest sighed for salt, and after sampling the savory meat, passed around a juicer and relieved the esophagus of all traces of rabidity. After lighting fires constantly on both sides of the track for several hours, a freight train was heard coming at midnight, and with red firebricks was brought to a halt. The only way to accommodate this rich and growing region is to have a local train put on from Los Angeles to Barstow and let Eastern trains arrive when they get ready. Such a train would be a source of great prosperity to Los Angeles and the new and growing towns along the line of road. Let it come early and come to stay.

water from the ditch is discharged into a steel pipe twenty-six inches in diameter at a height of 300 feet, which the level of the river below, from which the ditch receives the water in its mountainous course. This pipe is gradually reduced to fourteen inches in diameter, length, amounting to a surface of about 528 inches with the astonishing power of a weight of 2,000,000 pounds. The pipe is spiral jointed and joined at the ends of each piece with double iron bands made immovable by being held together with iron bands, making the strongest joint known to modern science. This pipe will carry a river of water to a point 150 feet above the townsite on the beautiful plain of Hesperia, six miles west of time, while the water from the west is poured into open ditches to fill the soil by percolation, and is also conducted in iron pipes through the streets of the townsite. Work has been commenced on a large reservoir above the irrigation only, while the water from the town will come from the pipe direct from the mountains. The plain on which the Hesperian colony will be established is composed of a light chocolate colored earth of great richness and very easy of cultivation. The tract of 30,000 acres outside the town is generally divided into farms of forty acres each with a water right to every farm.

Should an increased water supply be desired in the future another fourteen-inch main will be laid from the same ditch. The water supply of the Hesperia company is double that of the Los Angeles river, so there need be no apprehension of a scarcity of the aqueous element.

The working force now employed by the company consists mainly of Mojave Indians under care of Chief Pascho. They are good workers and have plenty of stock and seem prosperous and happy. There is such a demand for labor at present that the demand for the services of these natives is very great and they seem to prefer it. With the lack of modern conveniences and amusements in the mountainous regions of the Mojave, it is difficult to retain eastern laborers for any long length of time, the presence of these Indians, who have always lived in the great and they seem to prefer it. The HERALD representative is indebted to Mr. C. H. Fuller, the Superintendent of the Communications Department, and the manager of the whole line of operations, for many courtesies and sumptuous refreshments from his excellent larder.

The California Southern railway extends for fifteen miles through the center of the tract. A long track has been laid in the townsite and the plans of a large granite hotel with a frontage of 125 feet have been chosen. The work of erection will be commenced at once by the company which has time and granite quarries of its own on the north part of the tract.

About $60,000 worth of this land has been sold already and as soon as the hotel is erected a large number of settlers will commence making homes in that beautiful section of our high and healthy mesa, where the sky is almost always cloudless and the temperature cool and delicious. It is the intention of settlers in this beautiful spot to plant large largely with deciduous fruits which grow at this elevation, 3000 feet, to the utmost perfection.

Hesperia is ninety-five miles northeast of Los Angeles, on the north side of the Sierra Madre, in the county of San Bernardino. The nearest postoffice is at Victor, twelve miles east of Upper Point of Rocks, on the Mojave.

At present it is a source of annoyance to people visiting that locality that the connecting railways east of the Colorado do not connect promptly with the California

HYDE PARK!

LOOK WHERE YOU WILL IN THE VICINITY OF THE CITY OF LOS ANGELES! search either of lots or acre property for charming homes, and the best judgment will be convinced at a glance as to the difficulty of finding a location for a town so beautiful, such pure and bracing air, and smooth, rich lands as characterizes Hyde Park. This splendid townsite is located on the line of the California Central, of the Atchafalaya, Topoka and Santa Fe system, which is to connect Los Angeles with the new harbor between the city and the harbor. Trains are to be running through the tract by July next, when great business activity all along the line will be the order of the day. Liberal sized lots, 60x130 feet, fronting on 60-foot avenues, are offered and being taken rapidly at $100 each; $40 cash; balance $10 per month without interest. Such terms give the present purchaser a good opportunity to make money in the rising values that must follow the effects of the harbor and railroad developments. Particularly desirable are the 5 and 10 acre villa lots surrounding the town. Conveyances leave the office at 1:30 P. M. to show parties the beautiful property.

DAILY HERALD.

THE VITRIOL CASE.

A Statement from Mrs. W. F. Rozelle.

PETRIE'S FEARFUL CONDITION.

A Warrant Sworn Out and Mrs. Rozelle Placed Under Arrest.

The fearful crime committed by Mrs. M. F. Rozelle, who threw vitriol in the face of Charles Petrie, the engineer, on Wednesday afternoon, was the talk of the town yesterday. The HERALD of yesterday morning was the only paper that gave a correct account of the horrible crime, and contained the only statements made by the actors in the affair. Yesterday a HERALD reporter obtained an interview with the vitriol thrower, Mrs. Rozelle, in the presence of her husband at the house in which they reside, 129 College street. Mrs. Rozelle, who was very cool and collected, made a statement, at times being prompted by her husband, who appears to be laboring under nervous excitement.

ROZELLE'S STATEMENT.

Mr. Rozelle said: "Petrie came to live in this house about the same time I did, which was in December last, after he had separated from his wife. About this time I went East and brought my wife back with me. When I arrived here the landlady, Mrs. Martin, told me that she had rented the back room to Petrie. I objected to his presence in the house, and told Mrs. Martin that if Petrie and his wife were going to live there I would leave, because I knew of his wife's bad character. Mrs. Martin told me that he had left his wife in Sacramento and was going to get a divorce from her, and I let the matter drop. In the latter part of January when he was coming up stairs he threw a magazine at my wife's door and said: 'There is something to read.' When I came up from the engine house I saw the paper and on asking my wife where it came from she said that Petrie had thrown it. I told her that Petrie was a bad man, and if he did that again to let me know. About two weeks after this Petrie took sick and my wife in going to get a pitcher of water, had to pass his door, which was open at the time and within three feet of the sink. Petrie asked my wife for a glass of water, and what did he say my dear? asked Rozelle of his wife.

"Well," said Mrs. Rozelle, continuing her husband's story, "when I handed him the water he said we were great people (meaning Mrs. Martin and myself), for not coming near him or waiting on him. I said, 'what do you think I am, or what do you take me for?' and walked out of the room insulted. When my husband came home I told him what Petrie had said.

"Yes," said Mr. Rozelle, "and I told her I would fix him. I got something for you to use when he insults you again. I then went to a drug store," continued Rozelle, "and got a vial of vitriol and told her how to use it. Be sure and keep your door closed and if he ever insults you again or comes in your room throw it in his face I said. The second time that my wife ever spoke to Petrie was when he came in the room and she threw the vitriol. About 3 o'clock Wednesday I went up town for a walk and when I came back my wife was gone, and I mistrusted something. My wife will now tell you why she threw the vitriol."

MRS. ROZELLE'S STORY.

Mrs. Rozelle then said: "After my husband left I locked the door and took a nap on the bed. The last time I saw him I awoke it was close on to dinner time, about a quarter past 4 o'clock I think. I got up and combed my hair and then went and got a pitcher of water. I did not lock the door on my return. I was putting some powder on my face, and while looking in the mirror I imagined I saw the door opened. Turning around I saw Petrie in the room. I asked him what he wanted, and he said 'nothing.' I said, 'get out of here, you rascal.' He then grabbed me (I was standing in the middle of the floor at the time) and pushed me on the bed. I fought with him and got away. I thought of the vitriol; that was my whole thought; and going quickly to the bureau where it was, I snatched it up and threw it in his face. He then reached for the door to go out, but being blinded, put his hands on the panel of the door, and that is how all the marks are there. He said nothing. I was very much excited and ran down stairs behind Petrie, but had nothing in my hands. I then ran up stairs again, and kept running up and down stairs three or four times. I saw Petrie run to the front gate once, while I was on the porch. He looked at me, but said nothing. Then Mr. Gibson, who is a brother of Mrs. Martin, the proprietor of the house, took Petrie around in the back yard where I heard he washed his face with water. I was not undressed as Mrs. Mally is reported to have said in the reporter of a morning paper." And in proof of this assertion Mrs. Rozelle unlocked her closet and showed the reporter the dress which she had on at the time and which was full of holes caused by the vitriol that dropped on it.

PETRIE'S CONDITION.

About 10 o'clock last night the HERALD reporter went to the Sisters Hospital, on South Olive street, to see the wounded man. He was met by Sister Mary, who stated that the poor man's condition was very alarming; in fact, so bad that she had telephoned for Dr. H. S. Orme, Petrie's physician. He passed a good night, but yesterday was very feverish and irritable. He complains that the acid is still burning into his skin, and his face is in a fearful swollen condition. At this juncture Dr. Orme made his appearance. The reporter asked the doctor to be allowed to accompany him to see the sick man. Dr. Orme said he must first learn the patient's condition, and the reporter sat in the waiting room. When Dr. Orme came down, he said that Petrie could not be seen by anyone. His condition was very serious, and the least excitement might bring on erysipelas, and this would probably kill him. He has a strong constitution, and with good care we hope to pull him through in two or three weeks.

Petrie's sufferings are said to be terrible, and his face a revolting sight to behold. The left eye is fearfully swollen and the lids are completely burned off. His forehead and the part of his nose between his eyes is in a raw condition. Dr. Orme states that Petrie says that the woman deceived him into her room and deliberately threw the vitriol at him; that Petrie's friends on the railroad are going to raise a purse to prosecute Rozelle and his wife, and that as soon as Petrie's condition will permit he will make a clear statement.

Dr. B. F. Kierulff, the oculist, says that Petrie's left eye is in a bad condition. If the vitriol penetrates the external coating of the eye and enters through the glass of the eye, it will produce the loss of vision. Any injury to the glass will blur the vision.

Petrie's mother, who was in Virginia City, N. Mex., where she heard of the disaster took the train immediately for Los Angeles, and a telegram which arrived last night states that she will be by her son's bedside Saturday morning. Petrie's wife, who is in Sacramento, sent a dispatch that she would come down at once, but Petrie's friends telegraphed her not to come just yet as the excitement over the meeting might bring about a fatal result. Mr. Keys, a railroad employe and a friend of Petrie's, is doing all he can for his friend, and it is alleged says that Rozelle and his wife will be prosecuted to the bitter end.

MRS. ROZELLE ARRESTED.

At half-past ten o'clock last night Deputy Constable W. A. Hunter swore out a complaint against Mrs. Rozelle, charging her with maliciously throwing vitriol upon the person of another.

Constable J. B. Smith arrested Mrs. Rozelle, and the J. B. Smith failed to give and remained in the custody of the constable. She will be arraigned to-morrow.

BASEBALL.

Greenwood & Moran vs. the Peck & Ruggles.

The attendance at the new Agricultural Park baseball grounds yesterday afternoon to witness the game between the Greenwood & Moran club of Oakland and the Peck & Ruggles nine of this city was not large, but decidedly appreciative. Those present were treated to a fine exhibition of ball playing. Of course Van Halteren, the pitcher for the G. & M., carried off the laurels, but there were many commendations showered upon Knell, who pitched for the home club. Conn. of the P. & R., made the only three base hit of the day. Harris, of the home club, did splendid batting, but he played in hard luck. Goldstein's playing is also worthy of mention. The visitors played perfectly, and altogether it was a most interesting game.

AMERICAN OPERA.

"Lakme," First Opera of the Los Angeles season.

Manager Charles Locke has selected an admirable repertoire for the season here which opens on Monday night with Delibes' opera Lakme, which with

Pauline L'Allemand's brilliant rendering of the title role has made one of the greatest hits of the San Francisco season.

The music of the opera is full of beautiful sensuous melody that is characteristic of the modern French school. The scene is laid in India which admits of much richness of local color in the scenery and costumes. The last scene, of the jungle, is said to be one of the most picturesque and elaborate scenes ever set on the stage of this continent.

In this opera the famous American ballot will be seen here for the first time, in the grand ballet of the Bayaderes, and a characteristic dance of Eastern and one of the most picturesque ballets in the repertoire of the company. Mile.

Theodora de Gilbert, the graceful and accomplished premiere danseuse, who has made such a sensation in San Francisco, and Mile. Edith Carozzi will be the principal dancer. Twenty-seven young pupils of the ballet school of the American opera will also take part in the dances.

The sale of tickets is still as considerable as reported heretofore. On Monday and Tuesday trains will leave for Santa Monica one hour after the performance, and to Pasadena and the Duarte, stopping at way stations, trains will leave one hour after each performance

during the whole season.

Alameda Street Tracks.

The property owners on Alameda street met last night in Justice Austin's courtroom to consider ways and means for moving the railroad tracks from Alameda street. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Sabich, and Mayor Workman was selected as Chairman and Mayor

J. H. Brewer as Secretary. Mayor

Workman explained the object of the meeting, which was as above stated.

He was followed by Hon. Frank Sabich, who also favored the proposition of moving the tracks. Mr. Whistler, representing the interests of San Pedro street, said that the property owners on that street also desired to have the tracks removed from there. Mr. Ward defined the privileges of the railroad, and on motion the following committee was appointed to ascertain what could be done in the matter of inducing the company to move and to ascertain what amount would be necessary to be raised:

Alameda street—D. M. McGarry, O. H.

Bliss, A. H. Rogers; San Pedro street—

John Goldsworthy, John Filbin and Frank Sabich.

On motion of Mr. Charlton it was decided to request the Council to restrict the speed of the trains to six miles an hour. The meeting then adjourned.

Turf Club Races.

Arrangements for the spring meeting of the Turf Club, which commences next Wednesday, are progressing most favorably, and a better Derby race is promised than the late one at Louisville.

A prominent member of the association says that if better time is not made at our Derby than that of Wednesday the game money will be refunded. By a singular coincidence all of the horses entered were sired by Hardwood.

A Frost Out of Season.

At San Bernardino and Colton yesterday morning there was a smart white frost on the sidewalks and on boards and grass in the yards and gardens. No damage was done to fruit as far as known, but the spectacle was so unusual as to astonish the oldest inhabitant, who had never seen the like before at this season of the year.

Ghirardelli's prepared cocones, most excel lent substitute for tea or coffee.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

A Review of the Day's Transactions.

New York, May 12.—The improvement in the stock market continued to-day, the advance being very slow but steady, subject, however, to frequent minor fluctuations, caused by realization of profits. The opening was active and strong, although advances over last evening's figures were from small fractions only. Fluctuations were narrow and trading was of slight interest until the afternoon, when Richmond and West Point developed decided strength. One or two unimportant reactions occurred during the afternoon, but the close was moderately active and firm at the close to the best prices of the day. Government bonds dull and steady to firm.

People's Store.

We will put our patrons to-day with the largest list of specialties we have yet published. Among them will be a repetition of several items of the week just passed.

In our dress goods department we will sell combinations dress patterns of plain goods, with stripes and plaids to match. These we consider as great a bargain as we have yet offered. Many of our patrons have seen them displayed in our window, and consider each of them worth $5 and upwards to $25.

Fancy and plain dress silks will be offered to-day at 35c a yard.

Every fabric is pure silk and no mixture of cotton in it. It is seldom that you are so well supplied with such silks as are on sale to-day only commencing at 5 o'clock. The regular price from 50c to 75c.

In our domestic department we will sell cotton burlings for summer dresses, at 10c a yard. We have the newest and latest shades in this material, which are sold everywhere at 10c a yard.

In the same department we will sell an extra heavy quality of unbleached damask table linen at 25c a yard. We have always retailed this quality at 40c.

As handsome as anyone wishes to see and as large an assortment as ever came to Los Angeles, will be the line of Tinted Ground Lanes, which we will sell at 50c a yard to-day.

We have a new line of striped and figured neckties, which we will place on sale to-day at 10c a yard. The last scene, of the jungle, is said to be one of the most picturesque and elaborate scenes ever set on the stage of this continent.

In this opera the famous American ballet will be seen here for the first time, in the grand ballet of the Bayaderes, and a characteristic dance of Eastern and one of the most picturesque ballets in the repertoire of the company. Mile.

Theodora de Gilbert, the graceful and accomplished premiere danseuse, who has made such a sensation in San Francisco, and Mile. Edith Carozzi will be the principal dancer. Twenty-seven young pupils of the ballet school of the American opera will also take part in the dances.

The sale of tickets is still as considerable as reported heretofore. On Monday and Tuesday trains will leave for Santa Monica one hour after the performance, and to Pasadena and the Duarte, stopping at way stations, trains will leave one hour after each performance during the whole season.

Alameda Street Tracks.

The property owners on Alameda street met last night in Justice Austin's courtroom to consider ways and means for moving the railroad tracks from Alameda street. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Sabich, and Mayor Workman was selected as Chairman and Mayor J. H. Brewer as Secretary. Mayor Workman explained the object of the meeting, which was as above stated. He was followed by Hon. Frank Sabich, who also favored the proposition of moving the tracks. Mr. Whistler, representing the interests of San Pedro street, said that the property owners on that street also desired to have the tracks removed from there. Mr. Ward defined the privileges of the railroad, and on motion the following committee was appointed to ascertain what could be done in the matter of inducing the company to move and to ascertain what amount would be necessary to be raised: Alameda street—D. M. McGarry, O. H. Bliss, A. H. Rogers; San Pedro street—John Goldsworthy, John Filbin and Frank Sabich.

On motion of Mr. Charlton it was decided to request the Council to restrict the speed of the trains to six miles an hour. The meeting then adjourned.

Turf Club Races.

Arrangements for the spring meeting of the Turf Club, which commences next Wednesday, are progressing most favorably, and a better Derby race is promised than the late one at Louisville.

A prominent member of the association says that if better time is not made at our Derby than that of Wednesday the game money will be refunded. By a singular coincidence all of the horses entered were sired by Hardwood.

A Frost Out of Season.

At San Bernardino and Colton yesterday morning there was a smart white frost on the sidewalks and on boards and grass in the yards and gardens. No damage was done to fruit as far as known, but the spectacle was so unusual as to astonish the oldest inhabitant, who had never seen the like before at this season of the year.

Burbank.

Owing to the large sales and great demand the price of lots in Burbank will soon be advanced again, as the buildings, improvements and location justify double the present prices, which are still lower than any surrounding towns of not half the advantages or importance as a suburban foothill home to Los Angeles. A full supply of the ANNUAL HERALD is now on hand. Newsdealers and others should avail themselves at once to send in their orders. No better evidence of Southern California's advantages could be sent to Eastern friends.

Mr. James Campbell to-day took to Ballona Harbor the new pile driver. This is a powerful machine and was made by Murry Bros. of San Francisco.

J. J. Mellis wants to buy all the barley in the country, and will pay the highest market price for it. He thinks the barley in its crude state is a good thing to get hold of.

Sam Morse, an old-time resident of this city, but lately of San Juan Capistrano, is lying at the point of death at St. Vincent de Paul's hospital. He has consumption.

The members of Stanton, Frank Bartlett and Gleich Relief Corps are requested to be present at a special meeting, at 2 o'clock sharp, Saturday, May 14th, at Masonic Hall, 291 Spring street.

Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock M. G. Moore was arrested for leaving rocks at J. Varajas, in Sonoratown. Deputy Altamirano made the arrest, and Moore gave bond for his appearance to-day.

The three Jacoby brothers, the clothiers, are preparing to erect three $12,000 residences on Hope street, between Seventh and Eighth streets. These erections will greatly improve the appearance of that already beautiful portion of the city.

The outlook for the coming barley crop is not very encouraging. A prominent grain dealer says that there will not be over 200,000 sacks of barley harvested in this county, whereas last year there were 600,000. The wheat crop he says will fall off at least one-third from last year.

The Ladies' Auxiliary Society of the Central Baptist Church tender their thanks to the Trinity M. E. Church for their kindness in extending to them the use of their house of worship for the recent concert entertainment, also, to the musical artists who made the occasion so enjoyable and profitable.

Personal Mention.
Hon. W. A. Conn, one of San Bernardino's oldest and richest citizens, is in the city on a short visit.

General J. W. Shanklin, of Sacramento, arrived in the city yesterday en route to Anaheim. Mrs. Shanklin accompanies the General.

Dr. W. H. Masser, of the Arcadia perfume farm, is in the city. The Doctor reports everything on a grand boom at Arcadia, and blesses the day that he gave up excavating roots of teeth for the more artistic occupation of planting and cultivating the roots of flowers.

NOT ASSASSINATED.
Some idiot unlawfully uses the "Tribune" Bulletin Board.

Some practical joker, who was behind the door when the Lord was giving out brains and missed the share of that commodity, which he otherwise might have received, last night wrote on the bulletin board in front of the Tribune office a statement that President Cleveland had been assassinated. Such people as happened to be on the street, knowing the reliability of the Tribune were disposed to credit the report, and a number of gentlemen besieged the office of that journal. The Tribune people were very much astonished at the unauthorized use made of their bulletin board, and a reporter was detailed to efface the lie from the board. Some party, without taking the trouble to ascertain the facts, telegraphed to San Francisco that the Tribune was circulating a report of Cleveland's assassination.

Booth in Burbank.
Booth's subdivision of lot 1, block 101, adjoining the town of Burbank. Forty-three lots, 50x125 feet, at $100 each. These lots are of the finest locations on Providence avenue and Second street. The books are now open and maps can be had at office, Geo. W. Frink, 124 North Main street.

CONSTANTINE VEDANI

On Trial for the Murder of Alessandro Talioi.
The trial of Constantine Vedani, for the murder of Alessandro Talioi at the Roma Hotel on the 7th of January last, was commenced before Judge O'Melveny yesterday, and the story of the quarrel and resulting death was retold before a jury. It appeared that Vedani was the cook of the hotel and Talioi was the proprietor, and that there had been a quarrel between the two in the dining room on the 7th of January. During the quarrel Talioi was stabbed with a knife which had been used in the kitchen, but he did not die until the 11th. The physicians testified that the knife had not entered any vital part or out any important organ, but the man had died from inflammation superinduced by the shock, and indirectly caused by the wound. The principal witness for the prosecution, the woman alleged to have been the wife of Talioi, died on March 25th, and there was no witness who had seen the knife plunged into the unfortunate man, although there were several who had seen the men after the quarrel was over.

A night session was held last night, but the end of the case had not been reached, consequently the matter was continued until this morning at 10 o'clock.

Some Big Gold Nuggets.
Louis Blandin says the generally accepted statement that the largest nugget ever found in California was worth a little more than $21,000 is an erroneous one. He says that J. J. Finney, "Old Virginia," found a piece of gold about six miles from Downeyville, Sierra county, on August 11, 1855, that weighed 5000 ounces. The gold of that vicinity was worth $15 per ounce, which would make the value of the nugget $90,000. This would make the Finney nugget the largest piece of pure gold ever discovered so far as accounts go.

The Australian nugget, found in the Ballarat gold fields, has been considered the largest. It was valued at $30,000. Finney, or "Old Virginia," as he was familiarly called in those days, afterwards went to Washoe when the great silver discoveries were made there, and from him the town of Virginia City took its name. The man who discovered the largest nugget in the California mines and gave his name to the richest mining camp in the world, died in extreme poverty. (Globe Valley, Cal., Union.)

Another Strike.
The Fredericksburg Beer Company is the only firm that signed the contract with the Brewers and Malsters' Union of the Pacific Coast, agreeing to all its demands. It is the only concern now employing Union men only. The Union a few days ago ordered all its members out of each and every brewery within its jurisdiction except the Fredericksburg, and it was the public in general, and the workmen in particular, to sustain it and its principles by calling for "Fredericksburg."

The new railroad to Long Beach is to pass through with a depot on the tract, and it is only a few minutes walk from the street cars for Pasadena, Alhambra and the Raymond.

CATARRH.
THE TERM CATARRH IS APPLIED to a peculiar disorder of the mucous membrane of the nose, which prevails to an alarming extent and is productive of very serious consequences.

The most prominent and characteristic features is a morbid discharge from the nose, varying in its nature at different times.

In some there is an almost constant flow of clear, and in others of a thick, offensive, purulent, or mucous-purulent, greenish-yellow matter is secreted, which accumulates in the nostrils or drops into the throat, necessitating its frequent removal by blowing the nose or expectoration, and often by both processes. Sometimes the patient feels as though his whole head was in a state of tension, so great is the amount of matter discharged, and so fetid is its odor.

The patient is greatly annoyed by the constant dripping into the throat of the morbid matter from the head, and as a frequent position naturally favors the flow downward, his rest is frequently disturbed from this cause. Many sufferers are obliged to lie with the head very much elevated in order to sleep with some degree of comfort.

In others a tough, viscid and offensive phlegm collects behind and above the palate, in the passage between the throat and head, adhering to the parts with glutinous tenacity. Its constant presence irritates and creates a sensation of irritation and uneasiness in the affected locality, which gives rise to a constant and most tiresome desire to relieve the discomfort by drawing the mucous into the throat so as to expectorate it by the mouth. This peculiarly known as "hawking," is characteristic of catarrh, and proves a constant source of annoyance to the patient.

Aggravated in the one affected, as it is disagreeable to those around him.

Again, the patient is troubled with a constant itching of the membrane and a sense of dryness, hard concretions, which are discharged by the nose, or form a plug in the nose, which obstructs breathing and produces serious discomfort. No remedy to these irritating secretions is so promptly and effectively relieved by the removal of the morbid matter from the head, as the use of the Garvanzo's Catarrh Cure.

Occasionally a solid cast of a tubular size is expelled, on which there are generally traces of blood, but in some cases the cast presents a tubular appearance, being of a conical shape, and the interior of the condition is indicative of ulceration, which in time may destroy the bony structure of the nose and produce a subsequent flattening of that organ.

Cases are occasionally met with in which the nasal membrane is thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up, sometimes on one side, sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable stuffy sensation in the nostrils, and occasionally violent and prolonged sneezing.

The voice is weak, indistinct and husky, or of a nasal character, displaying a sort of quivering quality. Oftentimes there is a constant sneezing, and a sense of irritation in the throat, and frequent attempts to clear the parts of phlegm, producing the sound "hem" more or less forcibly. In some cases patients complain of an uncomfortable feeling of fullness, or a ebb sensation in the throat and in others of a distressing and almost constant dryness of the throat, and a loss of appetite is experienced and the patient is unable to perform his usual duties, and with the usual facility, he becomes depressed in spirits, at times fearful, timid, agitated and inclined to despondency and sleep, the memory weakened and permanent impairment threatened.

The mucous membrane soon becomes morbidly sensitive to unfavorable influences, and in spite of the utmost care becomes affected by the slightest cause, so that at least a breath of wind upon the lining of the nose or throat becomes productive of cold, and gives rise to serious disturbances of the respiratory organs. Thus the patient is subject to frequent and repeated colds, each attack aggravating the disease by giving a new impulse and involving a larger extent of surface than the predecessor. In this manner the difficulty extends to the entire organ, involving the throat, larynx, trachea and bronchial tubes, until, encouraged, further and further, it reaches the finer ramifications of the bronchi, when but a slight impulse is required to send it to the lungs. Catarrh may, and often does, affect other organs in the body, especially those containing a mucous membrane, such as the stomach, bowels, kidneys, etc.

By the employment of proper inhalations in the form of medicated vapor (soda or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for all will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, and is perfectly possible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

OZENA.
Ozena is the professional or technical name given to the advanced form of catarrh in which ulceration has eaten through the membrane lining of the nose to the cartilage of the bone. Any case of catarrh may end in ozena, but it more frequently occurs in those who are naturally scrofulous. The discharge takes place through the nostrils and is of a thick, greenish-yellow color, and is often accompanied by a fetid odor, which is attended by an offensive and almost insupportable odor. "The disease is one of the most obdurate and disagreeable which the physician has to encounter. In bad cases the breath of the patient becomes so offensive that he is isolated from society and to render him an object of disgust even to himself." In some cases pieces of
